MODULE 4.5

VOW OF UNIQUENESS

“In order to be irreplaceable one must always be different.”

COCO CHANEL

Points of difference are what make us unique in the game of life. It is our uniqueness that helps to differentiate who we are and what we stand for. It is our distinctions that help to create our value. What we must do is focus our efforts on developing our points of difference so that our value increases. For illustration purposes, if I will dedicate my time to becoming great at whatever I do, I will find it easier to attract a better caliber of individual to be a member of my team — for everyone needs a team to be successful, whether this team is family oriented, for social pleasure or for a business enterprise. In turn, the greater the strengths of the team, the easier to be successful at whatever I do or wherever I am.

In creating my Vow of Uniqueness, my focus should be on being an expert in one main facet of just one area of life at a time — being the best in my profession within the career arena, for example. This concentration of expertise applies to all areas of my life. This is what Leo Buscaglia, the renowned author and teacher of love, said about being unique: “A wonderful realization will be the day you realize that you are unique in all the world. There is nothing that is an accident. You are a special combination for a purpose, and don't let them tell you otherwise. You are that combination so that you can do what is essential for you to do. Don't ever believe that you have nothing to contribute. The world is an incredible unfulfilled tapestry. And only you can fulfill that tiny space that is yours.”

It's Day 58 . . . I'm empowered for life!

I Shall Acknowledge My Uniqueness

Acknowledging is an important discipline to master on the path to creating my Vow of Uniqueness. It means understanding my points of difference and recognizing the multitude of positive qualities that I already possess. It also means identifying and distinguishing areas in which I have accomplished some success, both in the present and the past. I should acknowledge my expertise and all my accomplishments to create a powerful feeling of achievement within myself, as perhaps all too often I have focused only on what I wish to achieve in the future, forgetting what I have already accomplished in the past.

I shall learn to give myself praise for my past and present victories, no matter how small or apparently insignificant. I shall acknowledge everything that makes me feel good about myself. This includes everything that makes me feel strong, victorious and successful. I shall acknowledge the fact that I am special and unique, a grand and exceptional human being. Every person living on this planet is special, including me. We each have a particular mission, a purpose to come into this world and do great things. In God's eyes, he did not create any failures, he took the time to create only magnificent beings, me included. The main purpose of acknowledging is for me to recognize this fact more often.

I Shall Search for Things to Acknowledge

As well as acknowledging the clear and evident qualities and areas of expertise I possess now, I shall also search for and recognize all of the intangible assets from my past. Acknowledging creates a vibration of success and a feeling of achievement in the now. The more I acknowledge myself, the greater I build up a pattern of success and the more powerful my feelings of wellbeing in the future. I shall develop the winning discipline of searching for and crediting myself every day for progress in some area of my life. I shall search for all my accomplishments and strong points, and write them on a list. This list becomes my Acknowledging List.

It's Day 58 . . . I'm empowered for life!

I Shall Create an Acknowledging List

I can have one enormous list with every quality on it from my life that I wish to acknowledge, or I can have multiple lists for specific areas such as these:

1. Winning qualities & abilities
2. Past accomplishments & deeds

I shall make my lists long, aiming for at least twenty to thirty items on each list. I will not be modest or reserved in my choices as to what I acknowledge or not. I shall write them all in black and white so that I can see in a clear and visual form all the many reasons I have to feel fabulous about myself. The resultant feelings will form the foundation for my future success and achievement.

It's Day 58 . . . I'm empowered for life!

I Shall Focus On My Vow Of Uniqueness

Taking inspiration from my Acknowledging Lists, the greater the uniqueness I display compared to my peers and the more specialized expertise I demonstrate — of course in a positive direction — the greater the success that will materialize as I distance myself from others. I can be different to the competition by spelling out exactly what makes me unique from my peers.

Let's use James Lee Valentine as the illustration here. It is not enough for him to just desire success within his chosen profession as the author of best-selling financial empowerment success systems. What is necessary for him is to differentiate himself from the multitude of authors that have written the vast array of self-help books that line bookstores worldwide. What James has decided to do is concentrate his energies on an objective that is vastly more powerful in scope than just authoring books — his objective is now successfully developing the Empowered Millionaire Institute.

What James most desires to accomplish during his lifetime is to help people reach the peak of their potential. He wants to teach the fundamental principles of personal advancement, reaching out to assist millions of people worldwide, so that they will realize that each and every one of them already possesses the awesome power to positively transform their own lives in a million wondrous ways. James has made a steadfast commitment to build his ever-lasting legacy. For him, his eternal monument that he is passionately building to outlast his life is the Empowered Millionaire Institute. James believes wholeheartedly that the life of an individual has deep meaning only when it cultivates the ultimate human emotional hunger, preserving this one thing no individual can live meaningfully without — which is dignity as a human being. So James has founded his organization with its overriding mission to help people live their lives with dignity. This is why the aphorism of the Empowered Millionaire Institute states: "Dedicated to the maximization of human potential for the benefit of all people."
