MODULE 7.1

PERSONAL INCOME

“I am indeed rich, since my income is superior to my expenses, and my expenses are equal to my wishes.”

EDWARD GIBBON

The most interesting, the most widely discussed, and in some ways the most controversial subject in the entire world is sex! But money is a close second. This is certainly understandable in view of the fact that money provides the means to supply so many of the yearnings of mankind. Status, recognition, independence and security are all motivating factors for an accumulation of wealth. For any given person, however, it's not an easy task to say which the most important monetary factors are — and which the most valuable are. What then is the value of money? Obviously it does not mean the same thing to all people. A pauper and a millionaire will not share the same perspective and will see a different worth in an annual income of twenty-five thousand dollars. The poor person will see this income as leading to financial independence and the millionaire will view it as being close to the poverty line.

The value of money as it relates to me is found in my motives, my attitudes and my personal circumstances, which are all constantly changing to reflect my present state of affairs. To see what value I place on money, this Power Question is to be asked to determine the strength of my own financial desires: At what level of personal net worth do I wish to retire, not at what age? If I am to retire rich enough and young enough to enjoy my good fortune, I must place a high value on the accumulation of a substantial net worth and I must practice financial astuteness as one of my new winning disciplines.

My Empowered Millionaire Currency

Why is it that the wealthiest individuals are capable of attracting enormous amounts of money to them — like they are divine money magnets — while many of the poorest people literally work their knuckles to the bone for ten to fourteen hours a day and are barely able to survive financially? There are many reasons, but the foremost dissimilarity between the richest and the poorest is in the nature of their monetary frequency — what we will term their success vibration. Everything I focus on — my thoughts, words, feelings, beliefs, attitudes, deeds, everything — creates a personal vibration of energy that manifests what I attract into my life. I have my own personal vibration of energy, my success vibration, as does each person have his or her own vibration of energy that creates his or her own being and manifests their circumstances — and the higher the frequency of vibration, the greater the results. It is my success vibration that is interacting with my surroundings at all times. As I start raising the frequency of my success vibration higher and higher, my results will become even more spectacular.

In terms of money, my success vibration is the level at which my energy field vibrates when I think about, speak about and interact with monetary wealth. Money is attracted to me in direct proportion to the frequency of my energy. The higher my vibration, the greater my magnetic energy. Magnetism is attractive. This means that just as a magnet attracts iron filings, so too does a mind emitting a success vibration of high emotional intensity attract similar thoughts of a high energy wavelength. Thoughts become magnetized and, as such, empowering thoughts attract positives and repel negatives. If my thoughts of money are of a high emotional intensity, money will more easily manifest for me. When I create a higher success vibration of money, I will attract a consistent flow of financial abundance. The best news is that I can generate a powerful vibration of success at any moment. All I need is to believe I am connected to this millionaire magnetism and the physical representation of this money will begin manifesting around me.

It's Day 80 . . . I'm empowered for life!

MODULE 7.1 PERSONAL INCOME

Do I know why money is called currency? It is no coincidence. This term is derived from an electrical current, which is a flow of electrically charged particles called electrons. Electrons produce a magnetic field. The stronger the current, the more intense the resulting magnetic field. The attraction of money works somewhat like an electrical current. The stronger the current I exude, the stronger my magnetic field, and the easier it is for me to attract specific circumstances and conditions into my life. No matter what my objective — whether better health, success in business or more money — the magnetism of the electrical current I exude will attract the very result to me that I am seeking. This is why the richest people seem to effortlessly grow richer. They exude a millionaire's magnetism — a millionaire currency.

In order for me to intentionally attract monetary wealth, I must be in vibrational harmony with money — my millionaire currency must be aligned with it. Now, in the world of energy, nothing ever ceases to exist. Energy is everything, which means that energy cannot be destroyed — it simply changes form. Therefore, all the money that I can possibly desire is already in existence right now. It is simply in a form of energy that may not have materialized yet. So let's say that I want to manifest an income of one million dollars per year. Well, it already exists. However, its existence is on a different playing field, on a different level of consciousness, so to speak.

Here, we will use the analogy of an elevator. Let's say I am on the ground floor, but my million-dollar income is on floor seventeen. The beauty is that it is already there, just waiting for me to claim it. All I must do is get in the elevator and push the button marked seventeen, which is analogous to all the manifestation disciplines needed to raise my level of consciousness to where I am now on the required floor. When the doors open, there will be my income, perfectly manifested. It already exists — all I must do is claim it. Displaying my millionaire currency is simply raising myself to a full expectation of the next level of experience. In this instance, getting off the elevator on floor seventeen where my desired income is.

My Personal Income – Working Or Residual

There are two kinds of income that an Empowered Millionaire needs an understanding of: working and residual. Working income as its name implies comes from active labor. It may be a paycheck for a day's employment, or a salary for a career, or earnings from hourly consultations. Most poor and middle-income people focus almost exclusively on forms of working income, requiring an investment of time and labor. Wealthy people tend to focus on residual income, active and passive, which is revenue earned on a continuous basis whether one works or not. Examples include income from book and music royalties, rentals from property ownership, and money working in the form of investment instruments such as stocks. I must determine the course of my financial future by deciding whether my money will mainly be generated via working or residual income.

Determine The Exact Personal Income I Desire

This is the first part to the Personal Income chart that must be completed if I am to be clear in my earnings intent. This is similar in strategy to the Chief Financial Aim as discussed earlier. As always, being specific is paramount. I must be precise in my financial intent for it to more easily manifest. It is imperative right from the start that my financial intent is exact and I have a clear awareness of the precise earnings I desire during this six-month period — both for the time period and for the average income each month.

My personal income goal for this six-month period is to earn...

Set The Earnings Time Period For This Income

As well as being specific in the income amount desired, the six-month time period must also be specified.

➤ July–December

Create A Monthly Income Record

For each month during this period, I must create a record of how much I have earned from each of my multiple channels of income.
